Mathews High School

GOING, GOING....It's December, 1981, at the Lee - Jackson Elementary School. Mrs. Bonnie Gobble's students perform "Christmas Cookies and Holiday Hearts" as their part in the holiday program. This group is GOING to have a great future!

Mathews High School, P.O. Box 38, Mathews, Virginia 23109

Kim Kernan assists Homecoming Queen Beth Papas with her sash.

Even though it's the first day of school, Beth Papas and Mike Jenkins are smiling. After all, they ARE Seniors now!

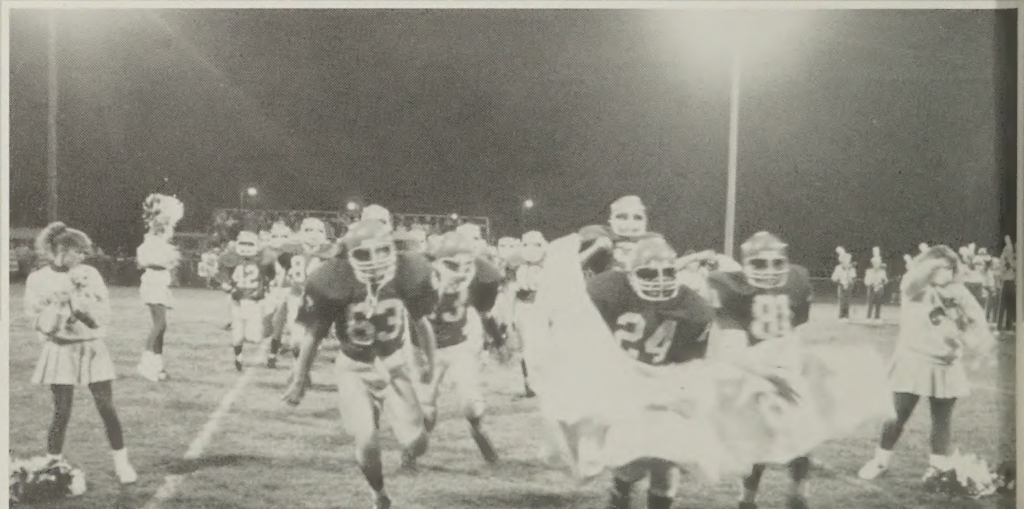

Going . . . Going . . . Gone! We're GOING All Out in '94!

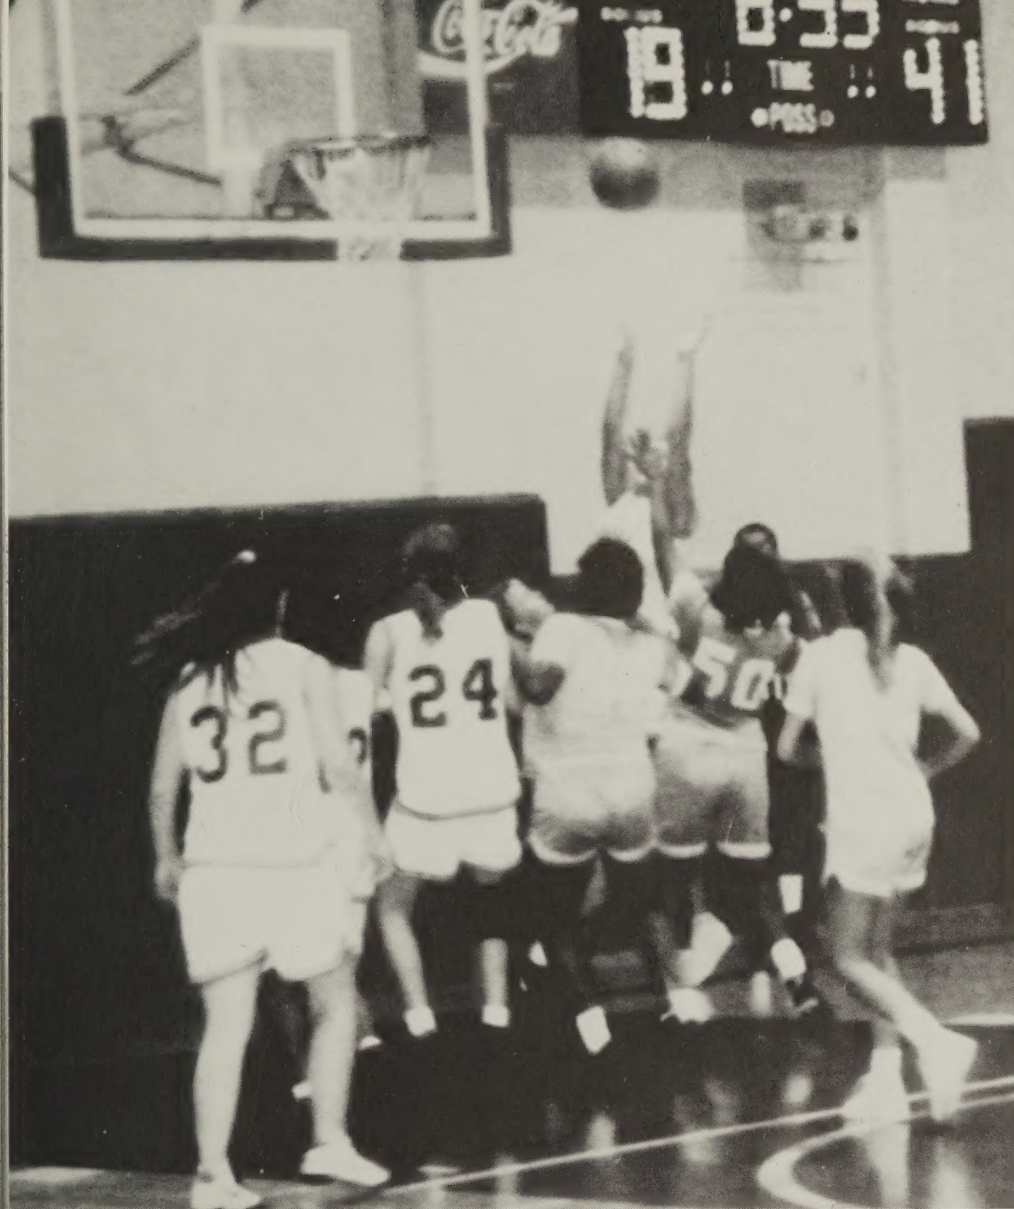

There are a few things in life that ARE GOING to happen, regardless of how we feel about them. In September, no matter what, school WILL start. In June, the Seniors who've earned their credits WILL graduate. In between are nine months that are variable. Ideally, each person will accomplish his goals to the fullest capacities; he will GO ALL OUT to do his best! Whatever the outcome, though, in June, the chances are over — and we are GONE!

It's tradition — it's to fire up the team — it's to get the fans in the proper cheering attitudes: Before each home game, the football team bursts through the cheerleader's banner!

Beth Papas shoots for her thousandth point and adds an even greater lead for the victory over W & L.

Market Days — friends, food, crafts, and walking. For Billy Sadler and Jessi Ball, there's also time to mug for the camera.

The band is never far behind the cheerleaders and flag girls, especially during a parade.

College Rep. Rick Ugetto speaks to students interested in attending RCC.

The French III class anxiously awaits the bell to signal the start of their holiday season.

Varsity cheerleaders Paula Childress and Kim Kernan speak for all of Mathews with their banner.

During first lunch block, the Seniors finally receive their long awaited supplies.

No, Sareeta Spriggs and Chanda White did not forget to get ready this morning. It is Pajama Day!

It's time to graduate! Mr. Bohn looks on as Jenny Sorey carefully measures Tim Downey for the "cap" part of "cap & gown."

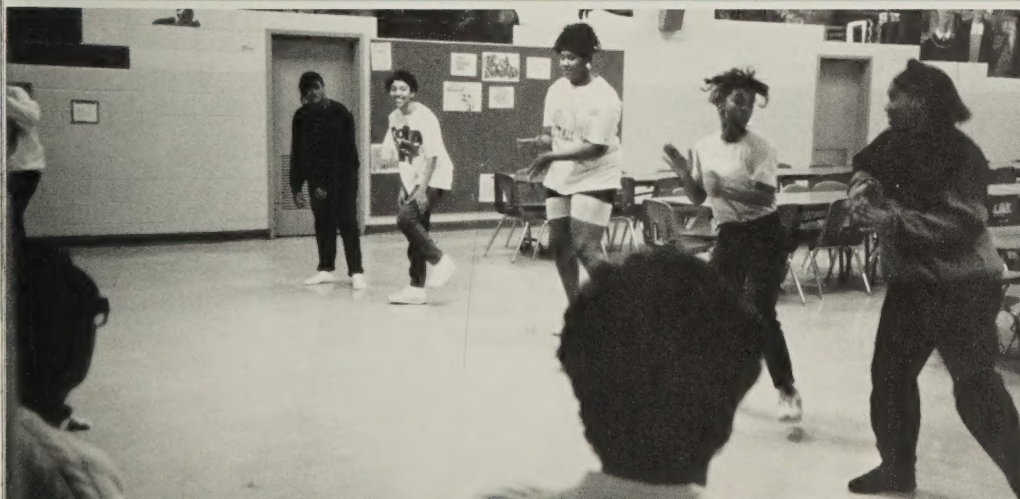

Going. . .Going. . .Gone!

'94 Is GOING Our Way!

There are a few things in life that ARE GOING to happen, regardless of how we feel about them. However, each person has choices. If he GOes all out, most things will GO his way! Even a small high school offers a variety of experience. A student can play three sports a year, or none. He can join one or more of the twenty-seven clubs, or none. He can concentrate on academics totally, ignoring the social aspects of school. Or, ideally, he will choose many of the above. Because, in June, the chances are over — and we are GONE!

The newly formed Pep Club dancers, "Mad Flava," work long and hard perfecting their routine for presentation at a home basketball game.

Art teacher Bruce Shumaker gives lessons in face painting for Blue and Gold Day.

Government is a class that Seniors take very seriously. It's one of those things that happen, no matter what!

We're Going Strong! -Blue Devil Student Life-

What does a Blue Devil do besides study and learn? If he's GOing strong, classwork and homework should make up the majority of his day, but there are many distractions: friends — socializing — athletics — clubs — a job. And how about the community Market Days festival — Homecoming — Christmas holiday excitement — trips out of the county — Prom — and finally — Graduation? Each student chooses his own goals and experiences. Because, in June, the chances are over — and we are GONE!

Sophomore Elaine Miller takes advantage of a time out to cheer for the girls' basketball team!

Old man (Hank Quesenberry) checks out "She"neal (Neal Hudgins).

Birthday girl Sondra Marsh gets a song, flowers, cake, and ice cream at lunch! A birthday on a school day isn't so bad!

The EMT's cope with a "bad" motorcycle accident: how to get the victim's helmet off without further damaging his neck?

Team captains meet in the middle of the football field for the coin toss before the Essex game.

During Market Days, Eric Dobson, John Benson, and friends meet and make plans for later.

The dreaded day arrives: September 7, 1993! Students file by class into the auditorium for the introductory assembly.

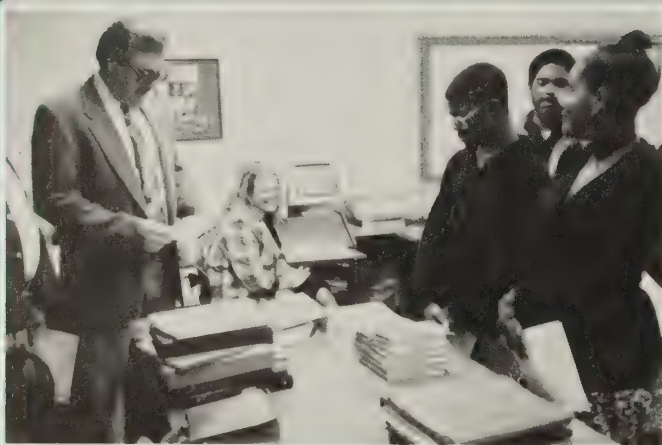

Finally, the class of 1994 gets the honor of sitting in the front few rows for an assembly.

Nikki Snyder proudly leads the student body in the Pledge of Allegiance.

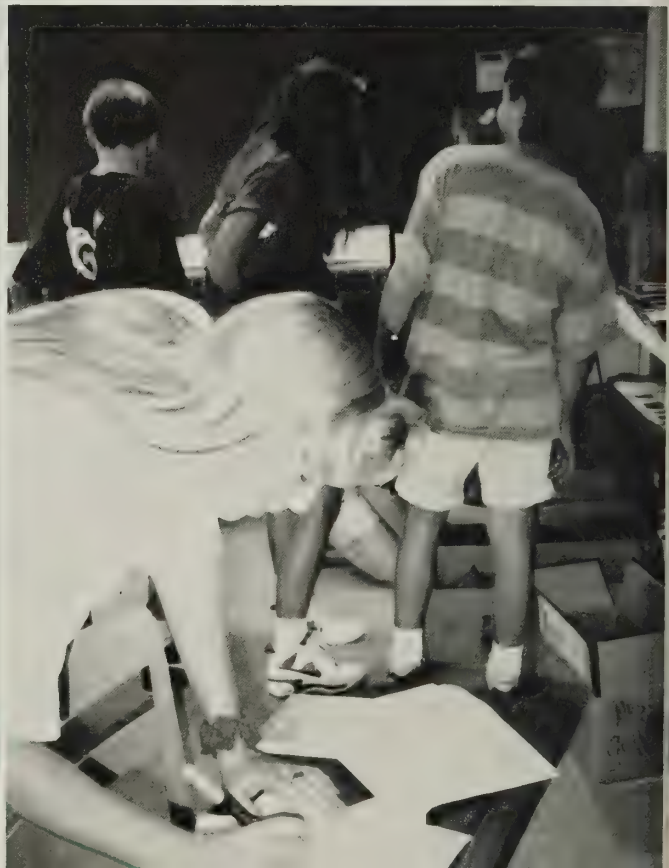

Going on. . .and on. . .and on. . .and on. . .! -Mathews Miscellany-

FBLA sponsors the first annual Computer Fair; Joanie Davis demonstrates the use of Word Perfect for her visitors.

Amid the chaos in Mrs. Grif's room, yearbook staffers Heather Marshall and Jacki West calmly distribute the '93 books.

Mr. Priest gives the cast of "The Empty Chair" a good pep talk before their performance in front of the student body.

After weeks of preparation and rehearsal, the cast finally gets to take their bows.

Going to Town. . .for Mathews Market Days!

Strolling through Market Days, Ryan Phillips finds many interesting things to look at.

The Varsity football team entertains the Market Days' crowd with their own version of a parade.

The first weekend after Labor Day means just one thing to Mathews folks! Centered around the Courthouse green, it's three days of the festival called "Market Days:" crafts, information, food, and plain old entertainment.

Rachel Christopher and Karer Mitchem check out the craft section.

Taking time out from Market Days, Meredith Kinsey, Gwen Beattie, and Jennifer Keenan smile for the camera.

Feasting their eyes on the food section, Jason Smith, Steve Callis, and Troy Soles wonder what will be their first choice.

Micah Royall and Karri Callis enjoy a stroll around Market Days.

Attorney General and gubernatorial candidate Mary Sue Terry visits to talk politics.

These long time friends decide to meet and explore Market Days together.

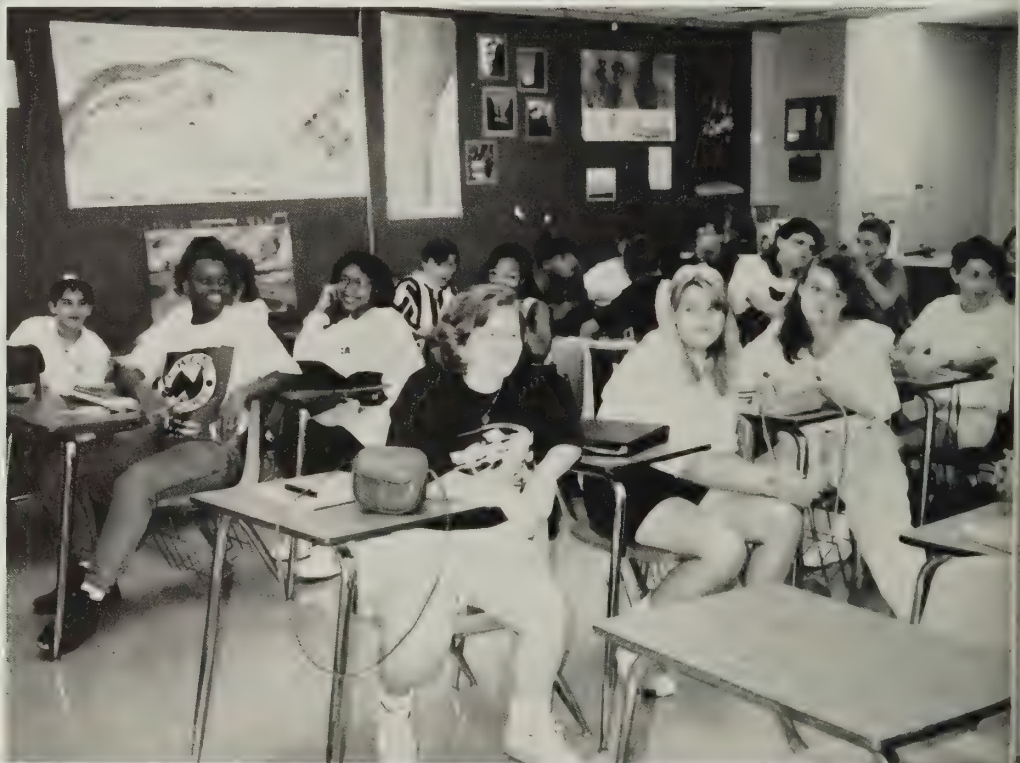

Trying hard to make a sale, Dr. Helliesen and Mr. Ward give the camera a big smile.

Jonathan Matthews and Gary Kammeter are hard at work for Mr. Dewitt.

Under the supervision of Coach Shu, Art II students work on their first projects of the year.

These freshmen realize that Earth Science with Mr. Stickler is not all that bad.

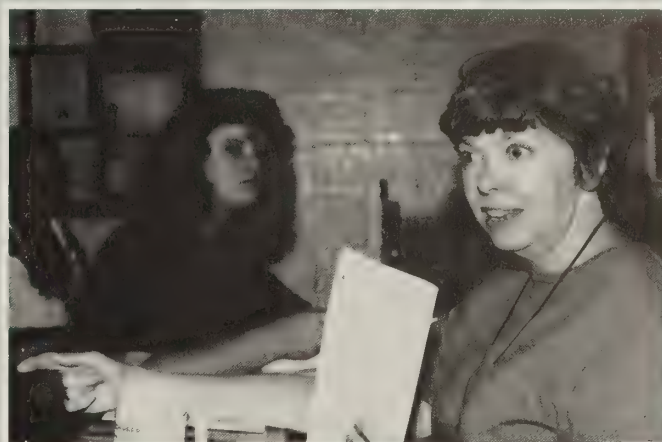

Mrs. Bassett tries to make her lessons interesting and fun so that her Biology I classes will pay close attention and learn something in the process.

Going on. . .and on. . .and on. . .and on. . .!

-Mathews Miscellany-

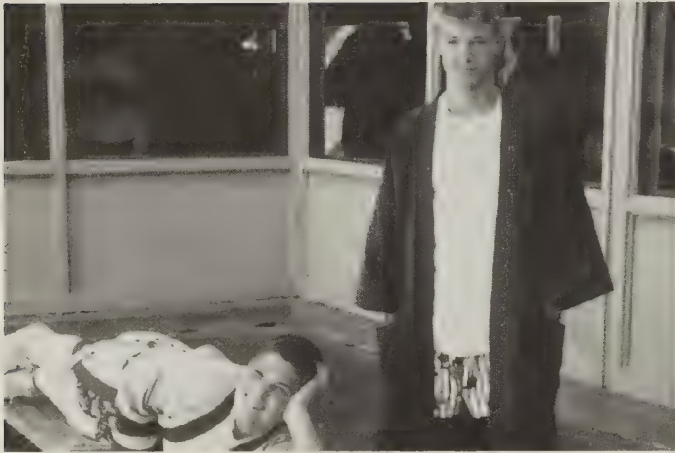

Mrs. Ogren is in the process of explaining an assignment to her ninth grade English class.

Jeff Goodwin and Ben McManus prepare to create a masterpiece with bricks.

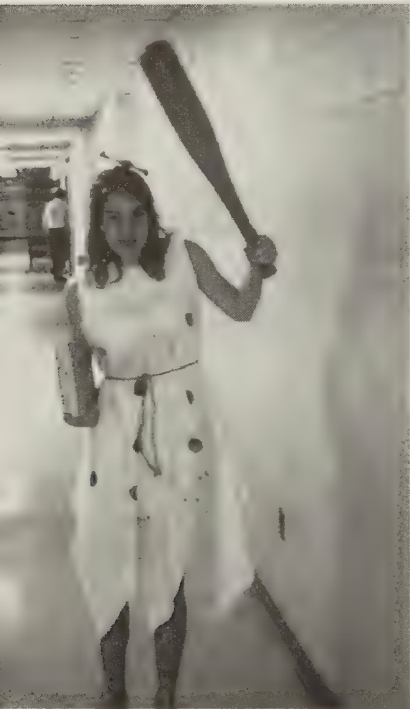

Art III students work diligently on the jackal, part of the cafeteria's new wall murals.

Latina Hassell and Hank Quesenberry win the prize for their costumes on Hillbilly Day.

Getting ready for school didn't take long for Michael Hurst and Roland Foster this morning.

Sophs Rebecca Driskell and Megan Shuber show off their spiffy sleepwear.

Pebbles aka Serena Smedley threatens the camera with her club.

Even the Freshmen get into the blue and gold spirit!

Going to the Limit for Spirit Week!

When else do we all dress up as our favorite cartoon characters — or as Hillbillies — or in our PJs? Or when do we try to outdo each other with blue and gold faces? It must be Homecoming Spirit Week!

Some of our students have wild imaginations when it comes to Hallowe'en.

When it comes to Homecoming floats everybody pitches in to create the winner.

Students dress up as partners to make Spirit Week a big success.

Micah Royall knows how to dress for Mix and Match Day.

On Mix & Match Day, nobody worries about a "unified" look.

Roland Foster makes his move on the new "girl" in school.

The Senior class wants to "Bury the Red Devils"

The Juniors hope to "Spook the Red Devils".

The Sophomores "Roast the Red Devils".

Friday's Festivities

Cap Homecoming Fun!

A fun-filled parade through the Courthouse and a victory over the Lancaster Red Devils capped off Homecoming. And, Senior Beth Papas was crowned Queen for 1993!

Drum majors Candace Hudgin and Jennifer Mitchem lead the band.

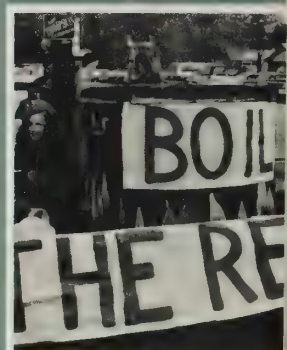

BETA members heat up the action by boiling the Red Devils.

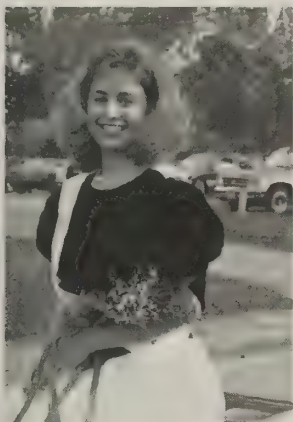

The varsity team's spirits are up before the big game.

Senior Karri Callis is also a candidate for Queen's honors in 1993.

Senior Beth Papas is the third candidate for the 1993 Homecoming Queen.

1993 Mathews Queen's Court

The 1993 Homecoming Court and their escorts are: Seniors Jason Thompson and Beth Papas; Seniors Neal Hudgins and Monica Burchell; Seniors Joe Robins and Karri Callis; Juniors Brian Callis and Carrie McNeal; Juniors Steve Callis and Nikki Snyder; Sophomores Chris Newsome and Jennifer Keenan; Junior Brad Livermon and Sophomore Rhonda Hudgins; Freshmen Adam Livermon and Leslie Thomas; Freshmen Jeff Robins and Donna Foster.

Beth Papas is all smiles as she is crowned 1993 Homecoming Queen by Mr. Lanford.

The court anxiously waits for half time to begin. Who will be Queen?

Mr. Shuber directs the advanced band in the ever popular "Jingle-Bell Rock" for the Christmas concert on December 15, 1993.

After a great performance, the advanced band stands to receive the applause while Mr. Shuber takes a bow.

The drummers certainly get into their music.

Going on. . .and on. . .and on. . .and on. . .!

Holiday Miscellany

Among the many songs the chorus sang were: "It's Beginning To Look Like Christmas", "Manger Child", "Behold A Tiny Baby", "It Must Be Love", and "The Christ Child Is Born".

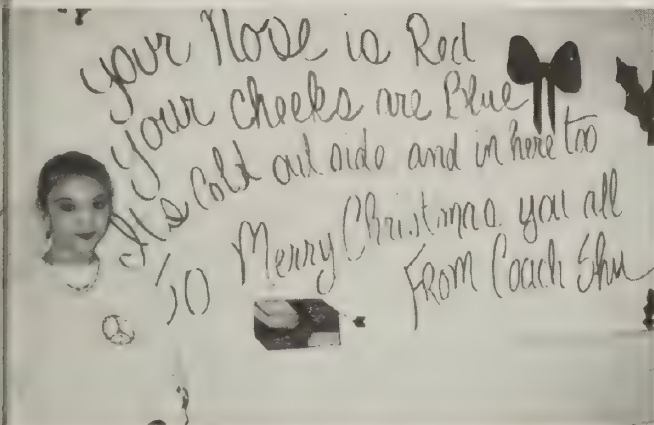

Santa Claus pays Coach Shumaker a visit during his Advanced Art class.

Getting into the holiday spirit, Mr. Brown even decorates the inside of his door!

Mr. Brown incorporates skiing and door decorating all into one.

Tied for First with Mrs. Wilkerson's door is Coach Shu's.

Candace Hudgins is the secret elf who decorates the guidance office door.

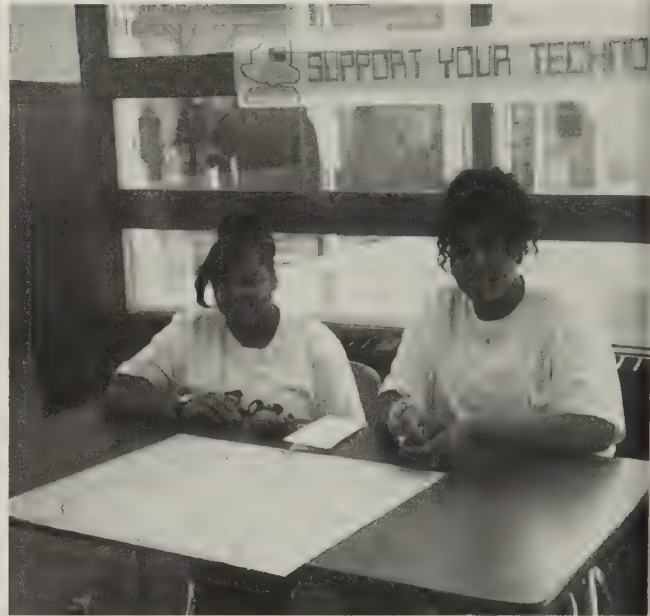

The Seniors and Mrs. Deputy wish everyone a Merry Christmas.

Winning Third Place is Mr. Priest's Scientific Snowman.

Rhonda Carter and Sareeta Spriggs help to raise money for the new technology lab.

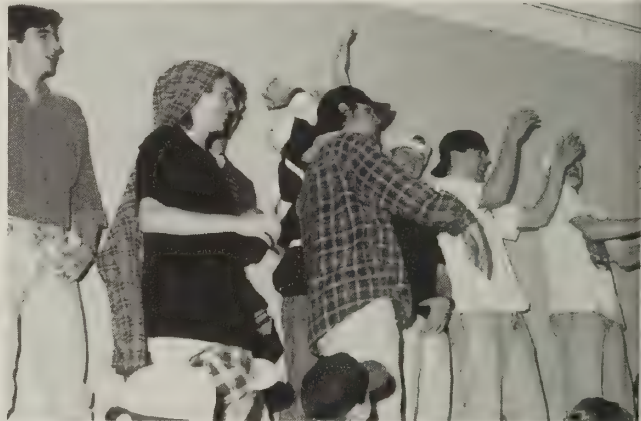

Mr. Priest demonstrates for U.S. History classes Civil War weaponry.

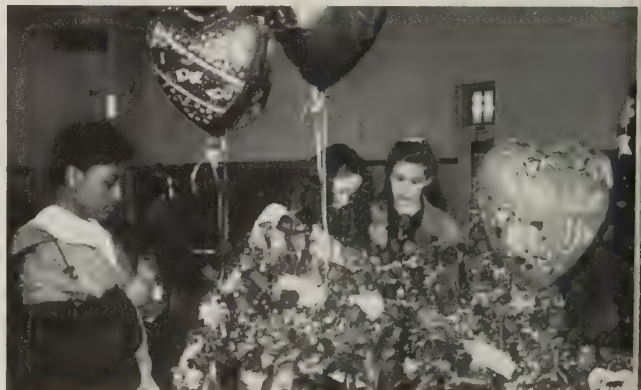

Going on. . .and on. . .and on. . . Mathews Miscellany

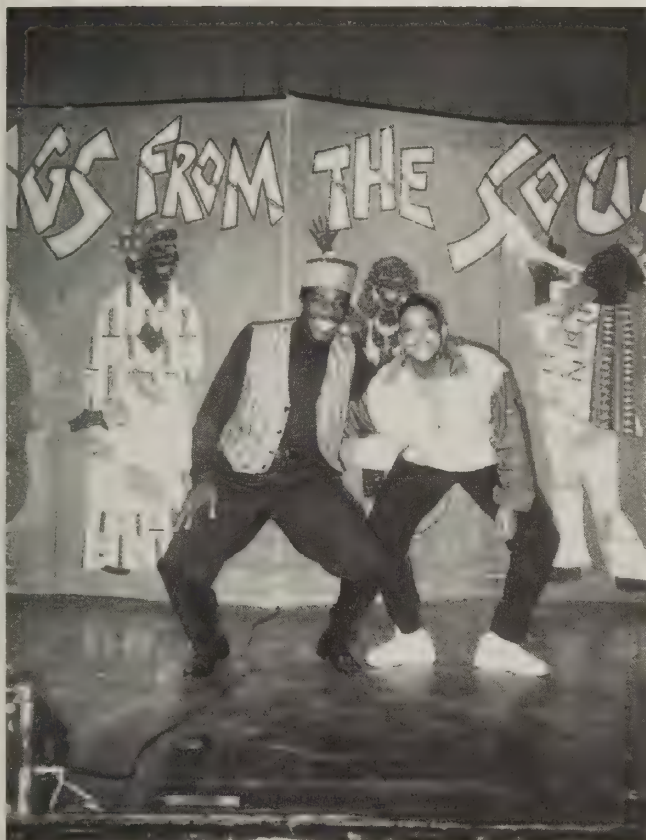

These guys get into the spirit at a boy's basketball game.

Supervisor Jay Black visits Mathews High School to get the student body's input on the proposed county-wide curfew. The Board of Supervisors voted to table it, after a lot of criticism from the community — they killed it.

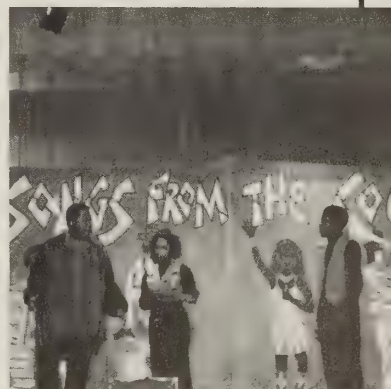

Valentine's Day once again proves to be hectic.

Richmond's Theatre IV performs "Songs from the Soul," with help from freshman Latisha Hayes.

While students file in to the auditorium for Dr. Chatmon's speech, Alexis Foster entertains with a few violin selections.

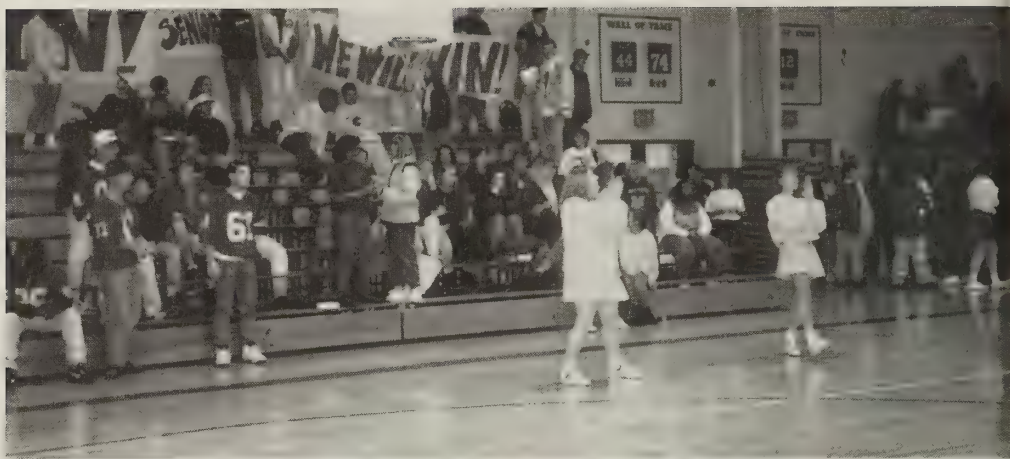

As part of Black History month, Theatre IV teaches history through songs and skits.

On February 24, for the Black History month finale, Dr. Angelo Chatmon comes to talk about the value of cultural diversity. To emphasize his point, he calls seven very different students to the front, where they form a circle. Dr. Chatmon then demonstrates how an insignificant, petty reason can break the circle. His point: "People can come together despite their differences. If we cannot do that, we will all fall flat on our faces."

The Cheerleaders direct the first Pep Assembly — this one honors the football players!

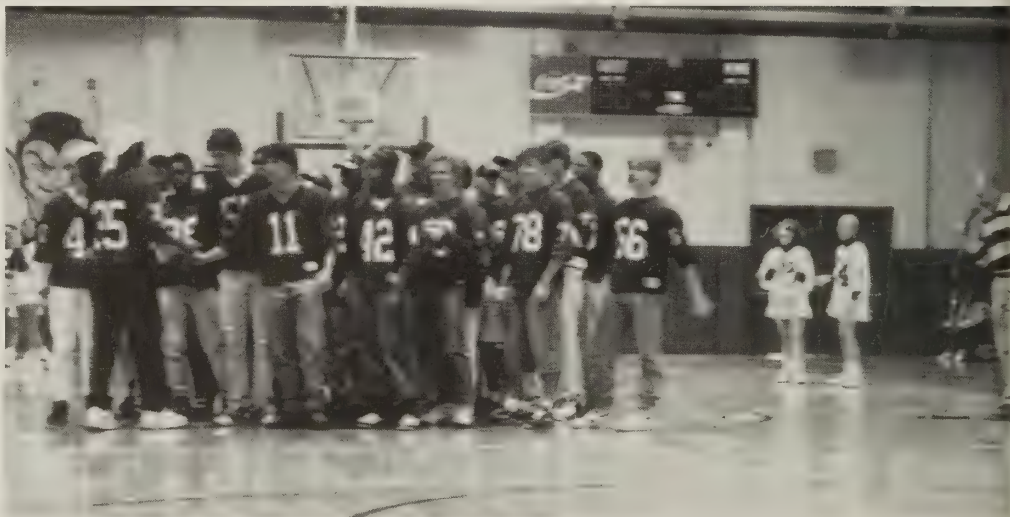

It's Homecoming Week, and the Cheerleaders award Michael Hurst one of the participation prizes.

At their Pep Assembly, the Basketball girls are introduced by Coach Brown and go into a spirit huddle on the floor!

The team loudly greets each other when Coach Fraser calls them out of the stands.

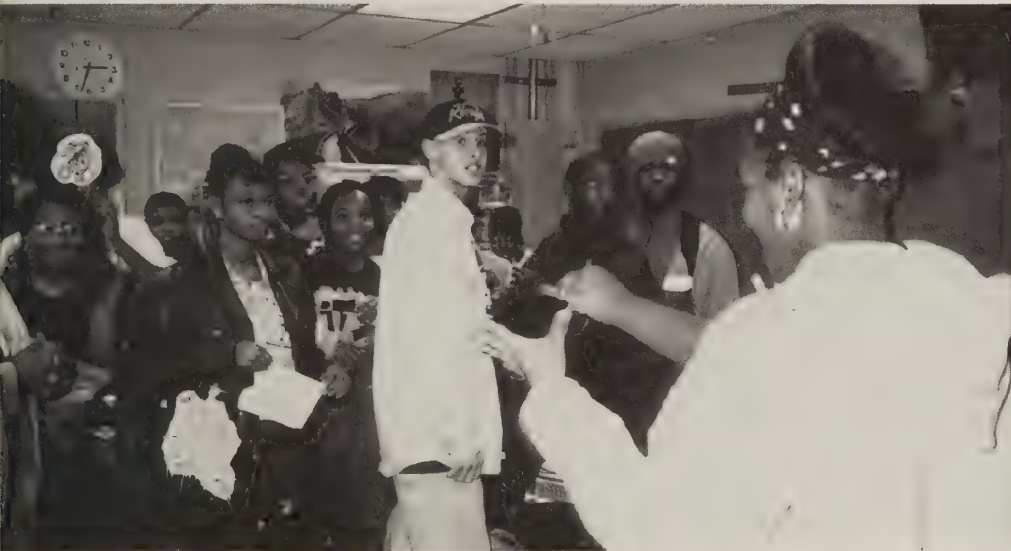

Cheerleaders and J.V.'s form a "spirit"ed tunnel for the Varsity!

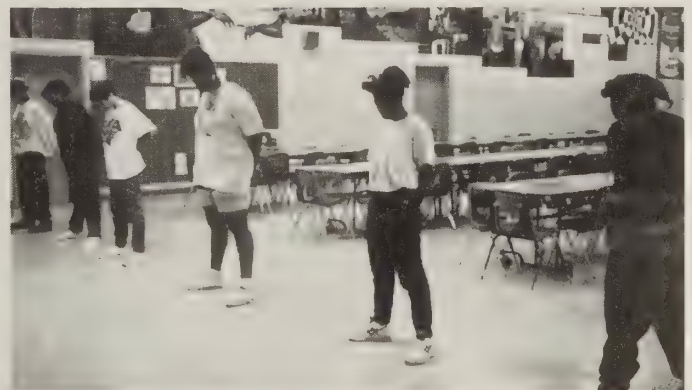

A "formal" meal? It's just the football team, eating Friday lunch together.

That's the Spirit!

For the first time in a few years, students try to initiate a Pep Club, and all meet in Miss Wilkerson's classroom. They are definitely spirited!

Out of the Pep Club comes the Step group "Mad Flava," who practice their routine every night to get ready for a basketball game — and eventually competition.

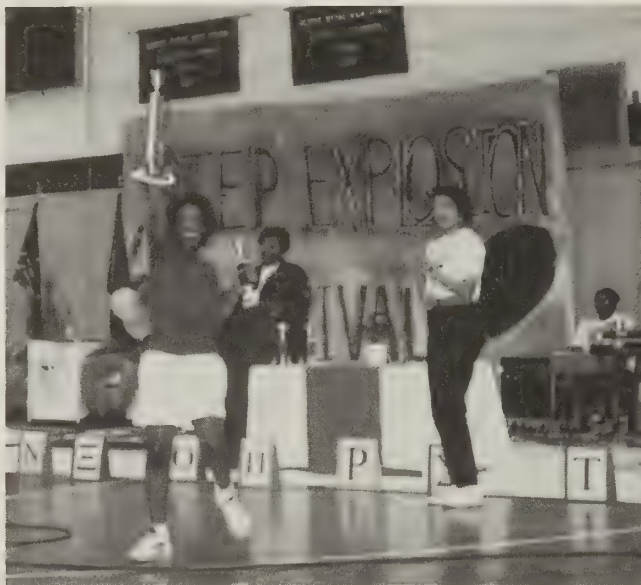

Leaders Chanda White and Sareeta have their hands full trying to organize the new Pep Club.

"Mad Flava": (standing) Latisha Hayes, Sareeta Spriggs, Tarsha Peterson, Heather Dixon; (kneeling) Demesha McIntyre, Chanda White, Sondra Marsh, Latisha McIntyre.

George Wythe High in Richmond is the place; "Hump Wit It" is the song. The steppers take a first place!

It's a first place in the high school category; Chanda White of "Mad Flava" jubilantly shows off the trophy.

Sonya Williams sings "If You Can't Help Me" and "Because He Lives."

Jennifer Keenan and Alexis Foster perform a flute - violin duet, "Theme and Variations in G," by G.F. Handel.

The Cheerleaders have a dance routine to the rhythm and tune of "Bingo."

We've Got the Talent. . .

. . .And We're Showing It Off!

Talent Show & "Mad Flava" First Time Successes!

It was a year of firsts in the "Talent" category!

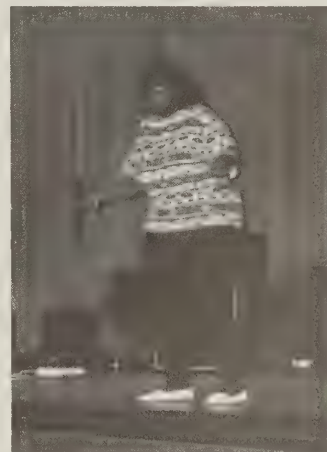

Sedgwick Easley emcees the first high school Talent Show.

For the first time, students performed in front of their peers in what should be the First Annual Talent Show. There was live performance — lip sync — bands — and the audience loved it!

And, for the first time, a hard-working dance group, "Mad Flava," performed and competed in the Step Explosion Festival in Richmond. They came back to Mathews with a first place trophy in the high school division!

Masha Epps lip syncs "Understanding."

Matt Duff sings "Today" accompanied by the members of the band P.E.T.

Jonathan Beckley chooses Bon Jovi's "Blaze of Glory" for his lip-sync.

The finale of the Talent Show, "Wild Country", rocks the auditorium with its three songs.

Prom Evokes "Distant Dreams"

A mock Paris skyline, the Eiffel Tower, a courtyard garden. The decorations for the Junior Shannon Jarvis and Brian Callis save their prom memories with a photo session.

Prom succeeded in giving the feeling of all of our "Distant Dreams." And, for a full night's entertainment, most upper-classmen spent the rest of the night at the Riverside Wellness Center, for a fun and prize filled After-Prom party.

The flower and tree filled courtyard becomes a popular rest spot for dancers.

The D.J. sets the mood and the music for the dance.

The Juniors, Seniors, and their dates fill the floor if the song is right.

Nikki Snyder, Skye Smith, and Carrie McNeal don't miss a beat.

Molly Morgan and James Judson don't just dance; they participate in the music!

The Grand March has been four years coming. It's hard to wait even a few more minutes.

Waiting is just as difficult for the guys in the Grand March.

After their own introductions, Seniors and their dates line the dance floor, watching.

Prom isn't just for dancing — there are lots of things to tell each other!

The courtyard is an inviting spot tonight, with its cool breezes and garden benches.

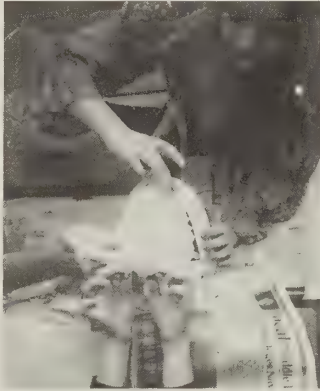

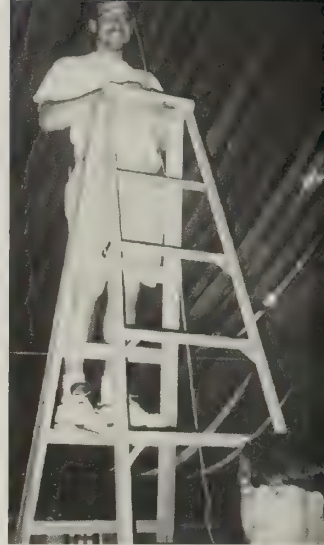

Senior Audrey Albertson and escort Steve Callis are introduced by Mr. Bohn.

Brian Phillips and Kevin Buchanan know this is Prom paper — but what's it for?

After most students take an early dismissal, there are still tables to set and decorations to finish, and always a few students willing to stay to help.

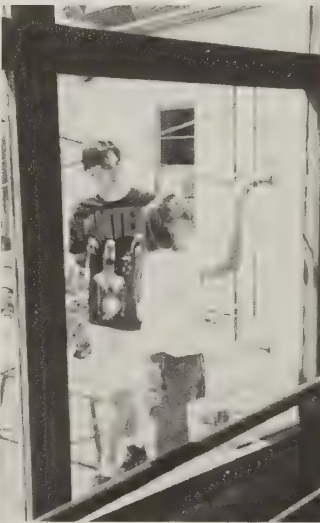

An art experiment: how to make a perfect face mask! Greased skin, a little plaster of paris, and straws to breathe through — and Kristin Kelley's face will be saved for the ages.

Coach Shu gets ready to immortalize Kristin Kelley and William Earl Sadler in plaster.

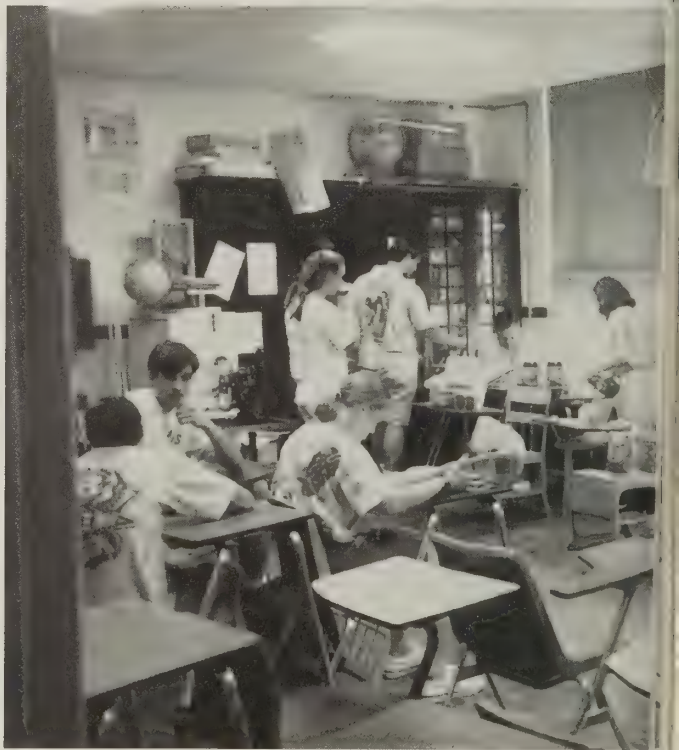

The spring art project is to turn the courtyard into an Art Classroom with paint.

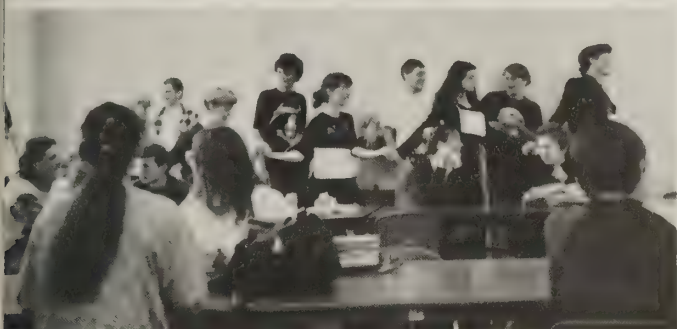

Kevin Buchanan and Kim Conner add their brushes to the courtyard walls.

It's Mr. Anthony's birthday, and his 20th Century History class surprises him with cake AND candles!

Going on. . .and on. . .and on. . .

-Mathews Miscellany-

On March 8, Beta initiates disguise themselves as famous people, and then are "allowed" to entertain the lunch crowd.

The next day, the initiates walk to the front of the auditorium for the Induction ceremony.

Veteran Betas initiate newcomers; all members then enjoy a tasty luncheon.

Each year Beta Club sponsors a Red Cross blood drive for eligible Juniors and Seniors. Mrs. Ann Sullenberger makes a plea to the upperclassmen for donors.

At the Awards Ceremony, Dustie Zabel accepts a scholarship from ECPI.

The last assembly (for Awards) is finally over - school really is almost finished!

Long-time friends Lisa Owens and Beth Papas want the ceremony to start!

After lining up in the auditorium for the last time, soon-to-be Grads march to the gym for the Commencement.

The line moves slowly; there's always time for a quick congrats.

Mr. Lanford and Mr. Dutton award over $300,000 in scholarships and grants.

Ready or Not, Here We Come!

Fifty-four MHS Commencements! What made the 1994 graduation unique?

Thirty students received scholarships and grants totaling over $300,000.

Mr. Ward reminded the Class of '94 of some of the rules they learned in kindergarten, which are still applicable today: "Share your things. Get along with everybody. If you're wrong, say you're sorry."

And, at 8:47 P.M., seventy-four class members threw confetti and popped noisemakers — too early! Mr. Lanford had not yet read the statement making them all official graduates!

At 8:49, seventy-four Graduates started their second and real celebration!

He's waited thirteen years for this; Jeff Jenkins isn't missing anything!

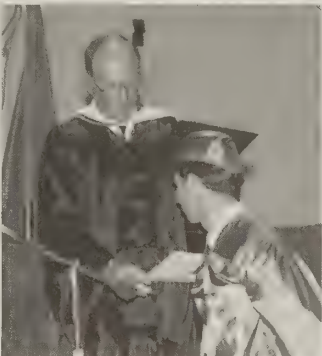

Commencement is a thought provoking time for every Senior.

Scholarships are announced by Mr. Dutton; Sandy Pleva picks hers up from Mr. Lanford.

Salutatorian Melissa McKelvey reads Silverstein's "The Giving Tree" and adds: "Beginning tomorrow, we must find our own way...not relying on others."

Thoughts tend to be on the serious side, after thirteen years of waiting.

Valedictorian Audrey Albertson warns: "Ready or not, here we come!" but also tells classmates that "Now's the time to take on new challenges...accomplishments are real and yours to earn."

At 4:00, Kevin Buchanan breaks his ankle, but he won't miss this for such a minor reason!

President Karri Callis leads the GRADUATES out of the auditorium.

Confetti, sparkles, poppers, and cheers — just a little early! Mr. Lanford has yet to read "By the powers invested in me..." But within 90 seconds, the Class of '94 are legally graduates, and they celebrate a second time.

The Girls' Varsity Basketball team and the Cheerleaders huddle before the Lancaster game.

Coach Dan Viers and the J.V. Basketball team are intent on the game.

One of the "new" traditions is pizza in the cafeteria for the Varsity before the away football games.

Cross country races mean a long time to wait before AND after the 3.1 mile run.

Coach Brown has only three Seniors on his '93 basketball team: Jenny Sorey, Alicia Marsh, and Beth Papas. Jenny and Beth each scored 1000 points in their careers.

Cheerleaders and players meet at mid-court after team introductions to combine energies for some spirit!

We're Going All Out!

-Blue Devil Athletics-

What does a Blue Devil do besides study and earn? If he's GOing strong, classwork and homework should make up the majority of his day, but there is always time for competition. Athletics plays an important part in many students' lives. With fourteen sports to choose from (twenty teams, counting varsity and junior varsity levels!), any athlete can find the right one, and make his own mark. Each student chooses his own goals and experiences. Because, in June, the chances are over — and we are GONE!

The infield gets together at the mound for one last conference before the first pitch.

Junior tackle Jonathan Lewis pursues the quarterback for the sack.

The defense is low and charging hard to stop the Lancaster offense.

The J.V. Devil defense mixes it up with the Washington & Lee Eagles.

Senior Shawn Forrest looks for a block so that he can turn the corner for a good gain.

For the last game of the season against arch-rival Middlesex, the entire team walks to the center of the field for the pre-game meeting of the captains. This turns out to be one of the best contests of the year, as the underdog Devils almost upset the Chargers, who go on to their first state championship.

J.V. Jason Callis leaps for a spectacular catch at mid-field.

Shortstop Phil Naglieri makes the catch as Matt Duff and Michael Bennett back him up.

Tough to Beat: Baseball

Outfielder Matt Duff robs Rappahannock of a hit, grabbing a long, high blast.

First baseman Matt Griffith dashes toward the Raider dugout to snag a foul ball.

J.V. Jason Smith dives back to first and beats the pick off attempt.

Rappahannock slides too late. Catcher Aaron Downey tags the runner for an exciting out.

Senior Joe Robins waits for "his" pitch.

J.V. hurler Jason Callis fires heat to Catcher Michael Hurst.

We're Going With the Crowd! -Blue Devil Students & Staff-

What does a Blue Devil do besides study and learn? If he's GOing strong, classwork and homework should make up the majority of his day, and for most, athletics will fill part of the evening. But who are WE? WE are aged thirteen and up; WE are a variety of colors, shapes, and personalities. It's up to each one of US to choose his own goals and experiences. Because, in June, the chances are over — and we are GONE!

Senior Night at the last home football game is a time of mixed feelings for everyone, including Kim Kernan and her parents.

Greg Britt, Tommy Jarvis, and Micah Royall make "believable" mourners on the Senior float.

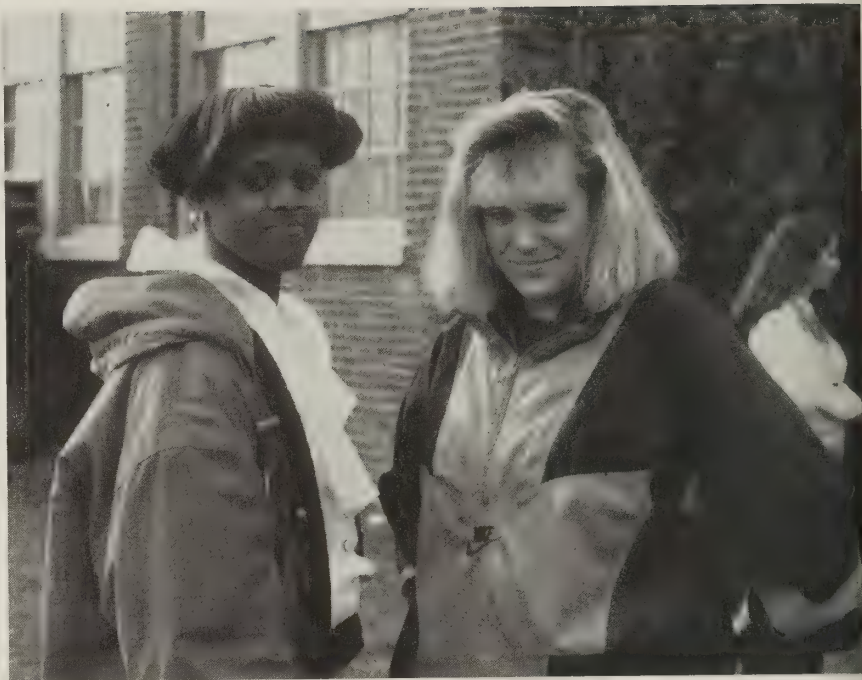

Maybe Susan Bushong doesn't want her picture taken! Oops. Too late.

The Food Court at Market Days offers rest, relaxation, and a little conversation — besides some real taste treats.

Class adjourns to the outside; LaRhonda White and Susan Bushong don't mind at all.

Frosh Michelle Blanks enjoys every minute of the fresh air.

FRESHMEN: The Class of 1997!

Americalore. . .

Dramatic Lit Excels!

They did so well in the performance of "Americalore" for the student body that the Dramatic Literature class cast decided to do a second show for parents. And, although the players operated under a few extra handicaps at the evening show (like some of the key cast members not showing up), the remaining students went all out and still made it through. After all, like the saying goes, the show (by Craig Sodaro) must go on!

Senior class officers have to have a sense of humor to get through this final year!

A.P. English gets intensive instruction from Mrs. McDaniel in lit AND writing skills.

The Seniors all dress professionally for Senior Interview Day, when they get a taste of what it will be like applying for jobs. After writing their resumes and making appointments with representatives from the companies of their choice, they have the opportunity to talk and be interviewed in nine fields (GTE, SouthTech, Newport News Shipbuilding, law enforcement, education, Canon, Chesapeake Corporation, Fabrics Unique, Riverside Convalescent). It's a real taste of the future!

Senior Specials:

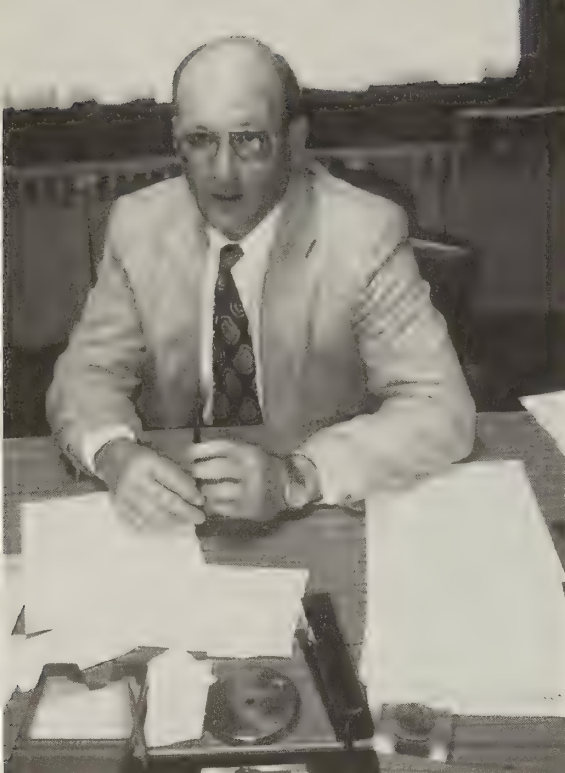

The Class of '94 Closes It Up. . .

at Baccalaureate!

and at Commencement!

All questions and problems ultimately end up on the desk of Principal Mr. John Lanford.

Besides working as Assistant Principal, Mr. Bob Fraser is the head Varsity Football Coach.

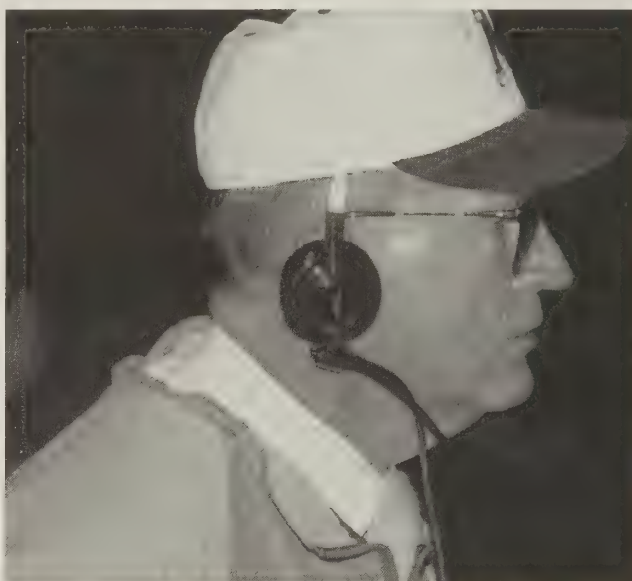

During the annual fall tour of the county school buildings, the School Board takes time before having lunch in the high school cafeteria for a photo session with Dr. Mary Hellisen, Assistant Superintendent, who snaps a few quick pictures. We get one, too! The board members are: Mrs. Wilnet Willis, Mr. Mike Rowe (Chairman), Mrs. Monica Harris, Mr. Hal Bourque, and Mr. Carlton Brooks.

Visitors, staff and students are handled with ease and efficiency by our secretaries, Mrs. Ruth Ann Hutson and Mrs. Mary Valdrighi.

1993-94 MHS Faculty and Staff

The 1993-94 school year was a continuation of the adaptations to the Block Scheduling begun in 1992, for the staff as well as the students, but overall, the system of alternate days of classes, meeting for 100 minutes, seems to be accepted and liked by the majority of both groups. Staff also participated enthusiastically in the first ever "Clean Up Day" on April 28, bringing brooms, rags, and cleaning supplies for students and staff to use — to make our building a little brighter!

Seniors John Blencowe and Rebecca Patton relax between John's wrestling matches.

"American Enterprise Day — as American as Apple Pie!" And, in celebration, anyone who shows a product made in the USA, receives a piece of apple pie! Ryan Moore serves Gary Smith his slice of Americana.

FHA baked Thanksgiving pies for the needy. Chefs Shannon Jarvis and Laura Daniel check a batch that is almost done.

Chorus, competing at Longwood College, has lots of sitting time. Shannon Jarvis and William Earl Sadler use it to chat.

After a year of writing captions, Year-book staffers start to wonder why anyone really needs to know what's happening in the photos.

The mood is light before the Homecoming Parade; Gwen Beattie, Rebecca Driskell, and Megan Shuber are ready to go!

Freshman Erin Dukes walks down what seems like a very long aisle at the Beta Club Induction Ceremony.

We're Going Places!

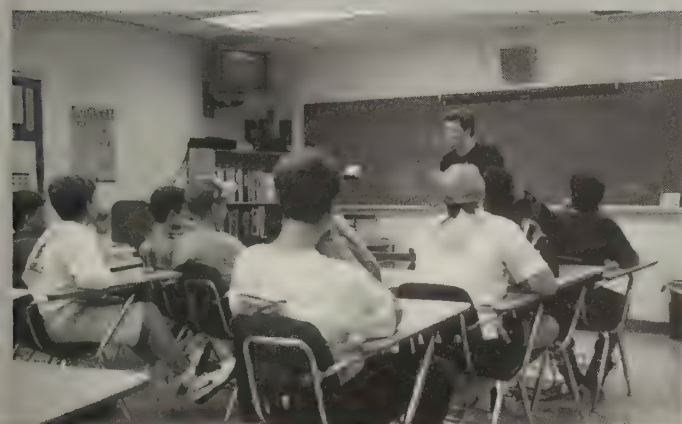

-Blue Devil Clubs & Activities-

What does a Blue Devil do besides study and learn? If he's GOing strong, classwork and homework should make up the majority of his day, but during EIP he also has the chance to participate in almost thirty organizations, which offer everything from music to service to sports to leadership — to name a few! Each student chooses his own goals and experiences. Because, in June, the chances are over — and we are GONE!

We're Going Up the Road!

-Blue Devil Advertisements/Index-

What does a Blue Devil do besides study and learn? If he's going strong, classwork and homework should make up the majority of his day, but he has options for his extra time. If he's had a good year, he can look back and enjoy his memories of athletics, club activities, and social interaction. Each student chooses his own goals and experiences. Because, in June, the chances are over — and we are GONE!

The faculty's in the gym; now it's the Seniors' turn: class officers first, then, by alphabetical order. Let's go!

The concert band entertains the graduation audience with familiar movie theme music, written by John Williams.

It's Clean-Up Day '94!

Everybody Pitches In and Works

What a novel idea! We could all pitch in for a spring cleaning of the high school! And we did!

On April 26, after a morning of classes, students and teachers alike reported to homerooms and received "assignments." Classrooms were swept, windows were washed, weeds were pulled — until lunch time, when the cooks had bag lunches ready. We meandered out to the football field for a picnic and listened to music while we ate. After a few games of soccer and football, we went back inside, where the students all tackled their lockers.

They DO windows! Ken Noonan and Erin Peters work on Mrs. Grif's glass.

The sun beats down, but the courtyard weeds are still attacked with vigor.

Key Club members Alicia Marsh, Sareeta Spriggs, and Chanda White supply trash bags for all.

Lunch is an easy-going affair on the football field!

Music is supplied by anyone wanting to loan CD's; Jonathan Lewis plays it all.

Two different touch football games and a soccer game go on after lunch.
